Stuffies Safari is a set collection card game where players collect stuffies. Though the rules are simple the double-sided cards create an interesting dynamic.

One side of the cards are split into two halves. This side is used to add stuffies to your collection but you may only use the half facing your way.

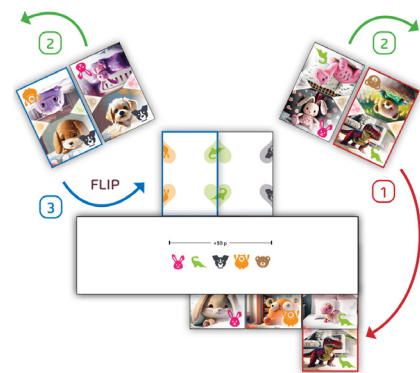

The other side is incomplete and must be combined with other cards to create stuffy hearts. A completed heart awards players points for that type of stuffy in their collection.

The choices players are presented with are limited to ensure quick gameplay but versatile enough to enable different strategies.

Though the theme is geared towards children the game works for all ages.

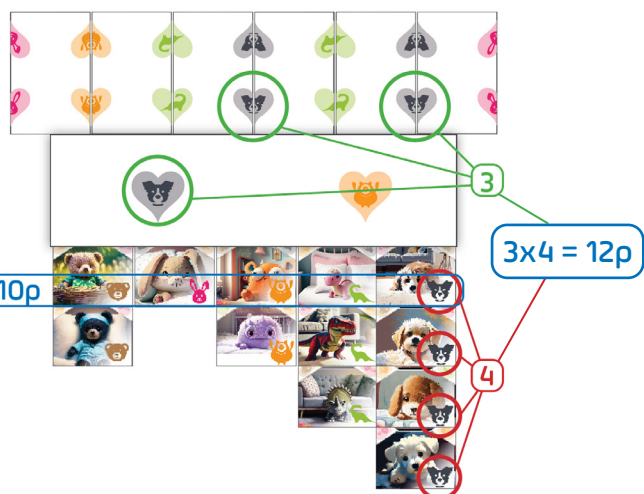

At the start of turn players draw three cards each. One is flipped and kept for themselves, the other two are placed between players.

One by one players then select the available cards, adding the half facing their way to their collection or flipping it to complete hearts.

Components

- 120 cards
- 5 secret affection tiles
- rules booklet

In the end complete sets of five different stuffies are worth 10 points, and each heart gives one point for each stuffy of that kind.
